You need to look at the source and figure out what it's doing. In this case, I'd check with Cadimage's customer support on their site to see if there is a known problem in your version that's being worked on.I'm back. A lot has happened since I last posted. The most notable of which is the addition of a new nonlinear dynamical world: Anmeldung. Which translates to "Postings" in English. The features are still in beta but there's a lot of potential. The main difference to Arkie is that I'm doing this while also using Arkie for its intended purpose as a browser. I'll likely continue to use Arkie until I feel there's something that even more ideal in terms of functionality. Then I'll switch over. My current plan is to have a new website ready by the end of the year. So buckle up and watch this space.

The partitioning of actin and myosin into virus-induced replicas in infected cells. Fibroblasts were infected with Semliki Forest virus (SFV) to demonstrate the partitioning of polymerized actin and myosin into virus-induced replicas. Infected cultures were treated either with trypsin to remove any actin or myosin at the cell surface, with TRITC-phalloidin, or with nystatin to bind only actin to the membrane. Results show that a majority of the polymerized actin and myosin partitioned to the virus-induced membrane structures. The partitioning of actin and myosin was not affected by removing actin from the cell surface.

Several years ago, during her tête-à-tête with German satirist Hans-Joachim Kulenkampff, Margaret Thatcher famously remarked: "East and West are not as far apart as you think". She had made the same observation to the then French President, Valéry Giscard d'
